Our School

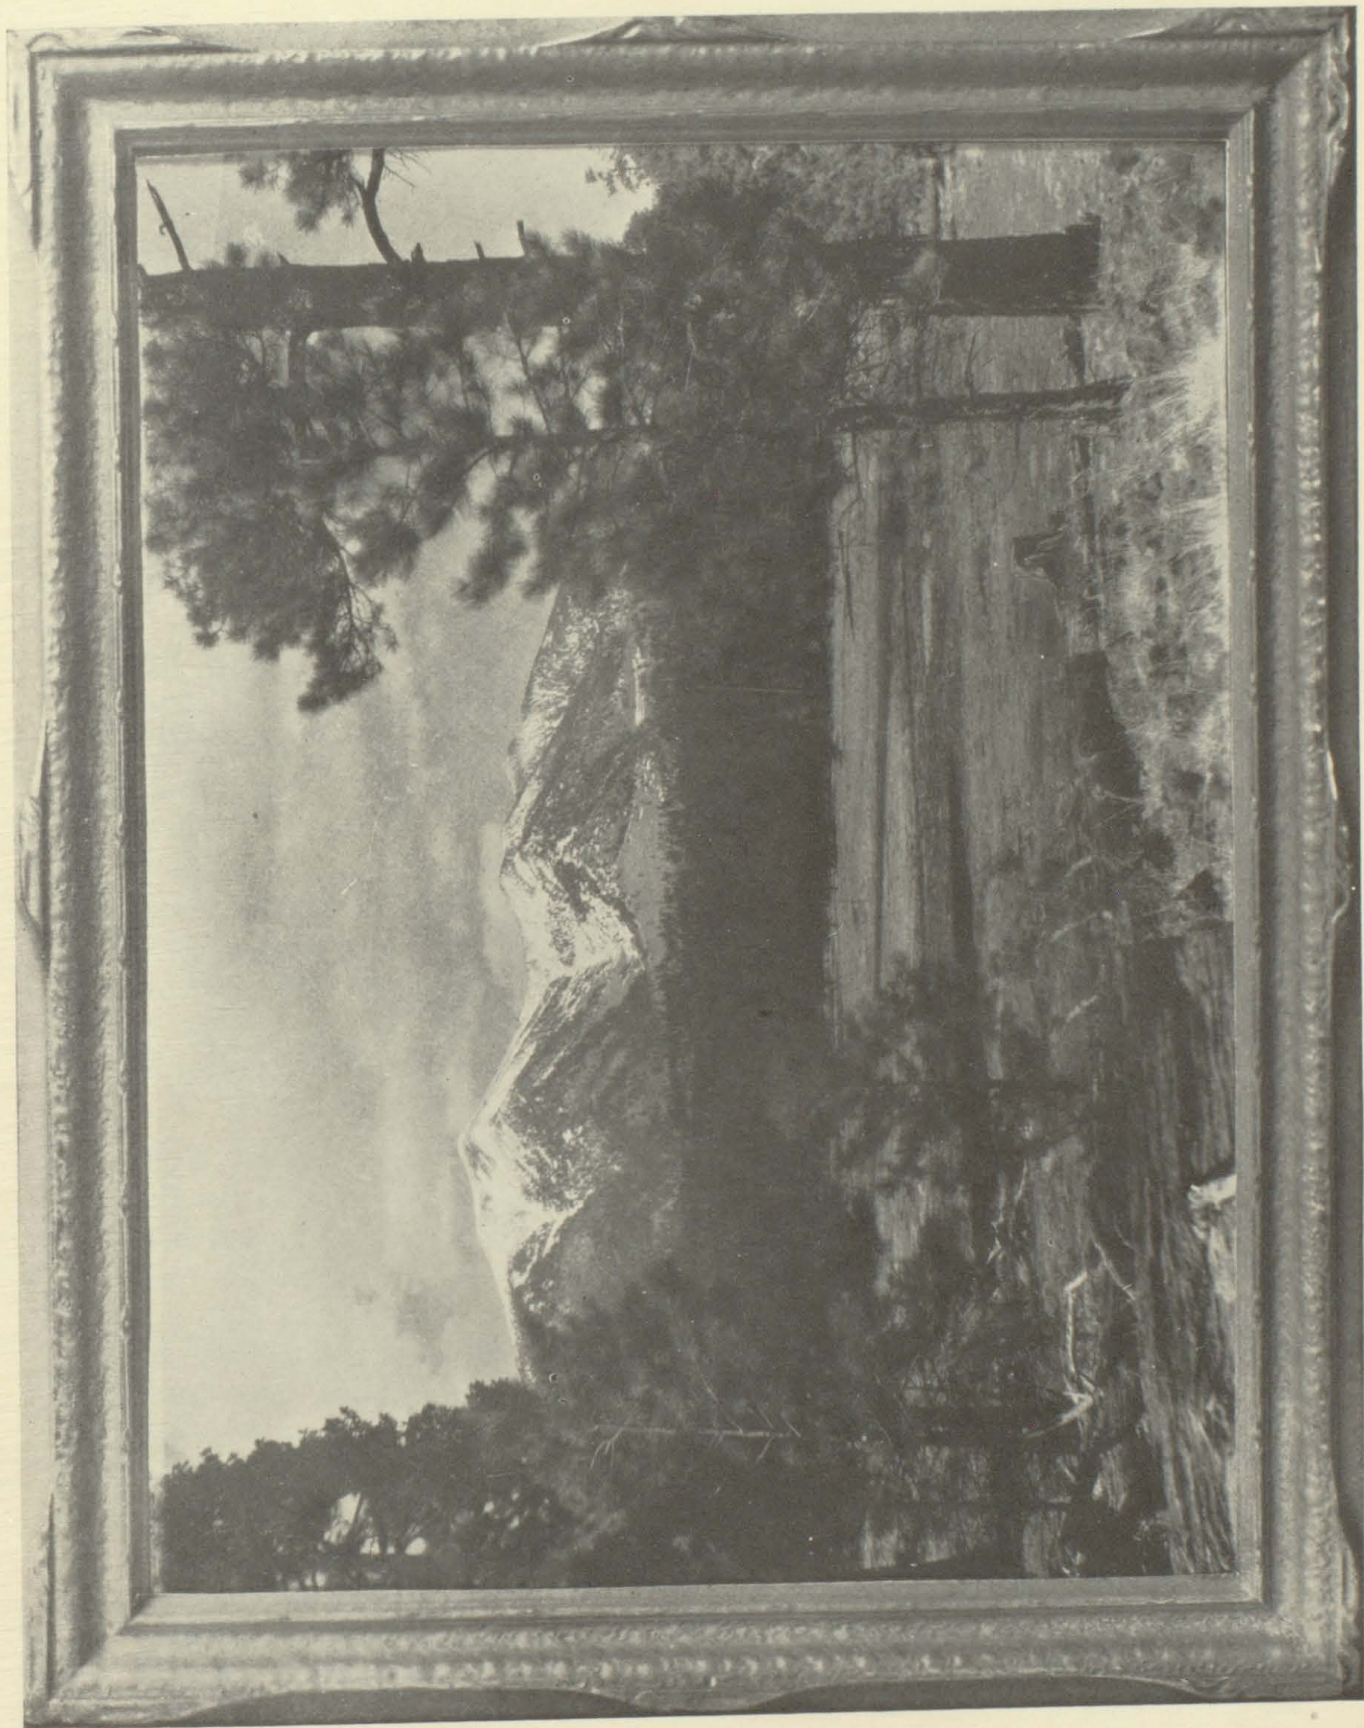

The Freshmen are so fresh and green,
But eager in their quest they seem.
So small, so numerous, yet so dear,
We have them with us year by year.

The Sophomores important quite,
Their Freshmen year is out of sight.
They find their goal much nearer now
And like to tell the Freshies how.

The Juniors; they know quite a bit,
And really think they've made a hit.
Just one more year and they'll be through
And want you sure to know it too.

The Seniors, mightiest and best,
In everything they lead the rest.
Then honor them you surely must,
And shout their praise; tis only just.

Senior Class History

In the fall of 1925 there were a group of about fifty Freshmen entered this high school. Our expectations at this time were great, and at the end of our high school career we are proud to say that practically all of them have been fulfilled.

During our Freshman year three of our boys made football letters, Frank Gallegos, Alfonso Chacon, and Roy Simmons. Frank and Roy also made basketball letters that year. Our social activities that year consisted only of a Freshman-Sophomore picnic out at Clear Creek. Our class officers were Winnie Matheson, president; Leona Fenton, secretary and treasurer.

When we enrolled for our Sophomore year we found that we had lost Raymond Dudziak, Gabriel Garcia, Andrew Gonzales, Sadie Jones, Elmina Morris, and Winnie Matheson. We also found that we had three new members, Isabelle VanAtta, Josephine LaZear, and Miles Parker. Our class officers for this year were R. G. Fussell, president; and Leona Fenton, secretary and treasurer. We had four boys, Miles Parker, Alfonso Chacon, Frank Gallegos, and Roy Simmons, out for football, and all of them earned their letters. Frank Gallegos and Roy Simmons were the only boys in our class that earned their basketball letters that year. Early in November we gave a barn dance for the whole school in the Washington Auditorium. The girls of our class gave a little entertainment during the dance which everyone seemed to enjoy.

In our Junior year we had six men on the team. This was the year that we won the Northern Arizona championship. Our lettermen were Frank Gallegos, Alfonso Chacon, Alberto Ceballos, R. G. Fussell, Lawrence Corbett, Thurman Hart, and Roy Simmons. Frank and Roy made the All Northern Arizona team, Frank as end, and Roy as center. Our lettermen in basketball were Frank Gallegos, Alfonso Chacon, Roy Simmons, R. G. Fussell, and Thurman Hart. Roy Simmons was captain of the '28 basketball season. We gave "Seven Chances" as the Junior play. We worked hard with this, and were well rewarded by the way people complimented our play. We gave a Rose Prom, and it was declared a great success. Several of the people in our class took places in the musical contest in Flagstaff last year. There was one Junior, Helen VanAtta, in the girls' quartet. Dennis Sweeney took second in the clarinet solo. There were three boys from our class in the boys quartet, Hubert McCormack, George Jackson and Lawrence Corbett. All of our students worked very hard for the new high school, and of course we were very glad when the bonds were voted. We will be the first class to graduate from it. We gained three new members this year, Thurman Hart, Lawrence Corbett and Hubert McCormack. Our class officers were R. G. Fussell, president; Leona Fenton, secretary; and George Jackson, treasurer.

At the first of our Senior year we lost two of our members who started high school with us, Helen VanAtta and Clara Williams. Our football season was not as successful as last year, but we made a good record. Our lettermen for this year are Alfonso Chacon, Frank Gallegos, Thurman Hart, Laurence Corbett, Alberto Ceballos, Roy Simmons and Captain Fussell. Frank Gallegos is the captain for the '29 basketball season. The lettermen for basketball are Chacon, Simmons, Gallegos and Fussell. On September fourteenth we gave a Senior Picnic at Clear Creek, and everyone had plenty to eat, and a good time. Late in the spring we intend to give a Senior banquet, along with the Senior Hop. On December fourteenth we gave "The Poor Nut". Again we demonstrated the acting ability of some of our members, and the play was declared a great success by all who saw it.

The Class of '29 has always been looked to as leaders in all school activities, and we hope that we will be remembered as the class that was as successful in life and they were during their days in Winslow High School.

Junior Class History

Officers

President	Betty Metcalfe
Vice President	Aileen Rhoades
Secretary-Treasurer	Joe Dudziak

The Junior Class. Here you have a class with good intentions, numerous successes, wonderful abilities, remarkable talents, honorable deeds, natural geniuses, and last, but not least, that sufficient amount of class and school spirit. This is what it takes to make a "real" class, and we feel that ours is all this and more.

When we entered the Winslow High School in 1926 as small, insignificant, and lowly Freshmen, who were afraid to venture too far out of their allotted realm, as it was, we had, approximately, thirty-four members. However, within the last two years of our High School career, that number has been slightly diminished to thirty-one studious, honorable, superior, and upright students. Our class is, at present, one of the best in school, and we hope to maintain our good reputation throughout the succeeding year when we are Seniors.

We have always participated in social activities, and our athletic prowess proves that we are right there when it comes to sports. As Juniors we look forward to those thrilling events, the Prom, and the Junior Play. We are going to christen these memorable events as "Greater Junior Season", and we are confident that they will be the outstanding successes of the year.

We are anticipating our Senior year with the highest hopes possible, and we feel assured that we will be prepared to accept and assume all the responsibilities that will ensue when we are the "leaders" of the school.

Sophomores

In the fall of '27 a group of green Freshmen entered the Winslow High School.

The class elected Lee Dover president, Thomas Kiernan vice president, Erma Phillips secretary and treasurer. After football season Lee Dover dropped out of school and Thomas Kiernan became president, Erma Phillips vice president, and Sylva Thayer was elected secretary and treasurer.

The Freshman Class of '27 sponsored no social affairs, but it did accomplish other things. In football there were four letter men, in basketball there were two letter men, and in track there were two letter men. In girls basketball two girls received letters.

During the year there were the following additions to the Freshman Class: Christie McCarty, Margaret Harman and Wilma Reese.

In the Music Contest at Flagstaff, Julia Waits, a Freshman, won second prize for her performance on the piano.

At the end of the year Dottie Carrol won the gold medal given to the best student of the Freshman Class. Margaret Harman was awarded the silver medal for second best student in the class. And so thus ended the Freshman year of this class.

Sophomores, we aren't Freshmen anymore, so maybe we can look down upon the Freshies as the Sophomores of last year did upon us.

The class has lost many of its former members. We, as I have already said, have diminished in members but not in spirit.

The officers elected this year were Frank Brandt, president; Thomas Kiernan, vice president, and Georgia Kelly, secretary and treasurer. Frank Brant left school so the officers automatically moved up.

During the year there were four letter men on the team.

There have been the following additions to the Sophomore Class: Ralph Harris and Hattie Lowitzki.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Freshman Class

Large Enrollment

Fifty four "mighty freshies" enrolled in the Freshmen class. This year's enrollment shows the largest class in the history of W. H. S. More power to 'em!

Elect Class Officers (September 6)

The Freshmen Class held their first class meeting. This meeting was held to elect class officers. After a close race the following were elected:

Lee Dover*President*

Louise Smongeski
..... Secretary-Treasurer

L. D. Welch*Vice President*

Miss Oare*Class Advisor*

Freshmen Unanimously Selected to Erect "W" (September 21)

As the usual custom the "freshies" put up the "W" to burn for the first football game, which was with St. Johns.

Freshmen Lose Two Classmates

The Freshmen Class regrets deeply the deaths of two members of the class. During the summer months Carl Bruchman was killed when a horse fell on him. Adrian Guardian died of a very serious disease.

Class Attends Party

During the Hallowe'en season the Freshmen Class was invited to the home of Mrs. Bengston for a Bunco party. Isabelle Recorden won the girls prize and Robert Vaughn the boys. Every one had a good time and good eats.

Freshmen-Juniors Give Dance (November 2)

The Freshmen and Juniors gave a dance to which the school was invited. Although some of the "Freshies" were too bashful to dance everyone had a good time. You should have seen L. D. "strut his stuff".

Three Freshmen Out For Football

George Dietz, Waldon McCollum and Carl Brady were the only Freshmen out for football. None of the boys made the team this year, but you just "watch our smoke" during the next three years. George Dietz was the only one to make a letter.

New Members

During the first semester Thelma Hamell and Alta Castleberry joined the Freshmen Class.

Freshmen Basketball Team

Twelve Freshmen boys reported for basketball. None of the boys made the regular team, but Lee Dover, Ralph Wickam, and Kelly Garcia got to play in most of the games. Mr. Wilson says that if the Freshmen keep on improving there is going to be some teams that will be beaten the next three years. The boys that were out for basketball are:

Lee Dover, Captain	William Goldsworthy	George Haynes
Perry Stegmeir	Desi Gallegos	Ralph Wickam
L. D. Welch	Willie Girard	Robert Vaughn
Carl Brady	Waldon McCollum	Kelly Garcia

More Freshmen (January 21)

The second semester brought twenty two more Freshmen from the Junior High. The Freshmen Class now has seventy-six members.

Football

When the call for football candidates was issued September 12, Coach Wilson was confronted with a problem that was indeed a large one. Graduation last year hit the backfield hard, and with a few regulars back on the line Coach Wilson set out on the season of 1928.

Through hard work and a lot of patience the Coach and his assistants were able to put a creditable team on the field. Many of the new players showed much promise and their efforts coupled with the steady work of the regulars helped to put the high school through a successful season.

Winslow rooters turned out in large numbers to see new methods and a practically new team. This test came in the first game of the season with St. Johns on September 22. Before St. Johns knew the game had started, Bill Wilson had scored a touchdown. Bill Wilson, star fullback, injured his leg on the last play of the game. This kept him out nearly all the rest of the season. The score was 6-0.

September 29, W. H. S. again played on her own field. Her opponent was Round Valley—always a fighting team. Round Valley was a tough team during the first quarter, but from then on didn't fare so well. Winslow won with the score 19-0. Brandt and the Gallegos brothers starred.

After a long and tiresome journey we landed at Clarkdale, the smeltering village. We had won ten games in succession. We lost. Clarkdale scored in the first quarter, and after that our team just could not get together. Hurst and Corbett starred. Score: 6-0.

Jerome came to Winslow with blood in her eyes, as they wanted to even an old score. They went home with just a tie, 6-6. Winslow was handicapped quite a bit for a guard, Frank Brandt being out for the season with an injured shoulder. Jerome made the first score in the third quarter, and Winslow scored in the last quarter when Matias Gallegos made a spectacular play through the line.

October 19th Flagstaff had many visitors. Winslow got within six inches of Flagstaff's goal and fumbled. Throughout the game Winslow outplayed her opponent, but fumbled when in scoring territory. Two years ago, as well as this year, Winslow and Flagstaff played a 0-0 tie. We hope next year to beat them.

Big Game of Season (Notice Seniors)

It was on a beautiful night out at practice that the mighty Seniors challenged the rest of the squad to a game of football. The Seniors, after the game, came in with their heads down, all banged up, and such a pitiful look on their faces. No wonder! They were beaten 36-6. They accidentally made a touchdown. We hope the Seniors show up better in Interclass basketball.

After two weeks of steady practice Winslow next journeyed to Prescott. The team was over confident, or something was radically wrong, and lost by a score of 25-6. Neil Kuhn, safety for Winslow, played a good game as did Hurst who starred his first game in the backfield.

Winslow, after the Prescott defeat, went to Kingman, and won a rough game 6-0. The score was made in the last six minutes of play with a pass from Robert Dietz to Chacon. Everyone showed up well in this game. When Bill Wilson was hurt in the first game of the year, Winslow needed a good punter and passer, so the responsibility fell on Robert Dietz. Dietz filled Wilson's place excellently, and did it throughout the season.

With Chacon, left end, and Miguel Guardian, right end, injured and left at home, Winslow went to Round Valley for a return game. Hurst scored in the first quarter, while Dietz and Clark made extra point. The second quarter Frank Gallegos received a beautiful pass from Dietz and ran the remaining thirty yards for a touchdown. Round Valley scored right after this. The score 13-6 indicates that it was a hard fought game. The stars were Elmore Sorenson, George Dietz, and the Gallegos brothers.

The last and most feared game of the season was with Williams on Thanksgiving Day on the home grid, or in other words, in a sea of mud. The field was covered snow and where there wasn't any snow it was ankle deep in mud and water. Winslow made a touchdown in the first four minutes of play with Hurst carrying the ball. Next came a touchdown by Matias Gallegos followed up by another made by Frank Gallegos. The fourth quarter was a wow as Robert Cranston, a substitute guard, blocked a Williams punt, picked the ball up and ran ten yards for a touchdown. Then Dietz threw a pass to Hurst for another point. By the way, Cranston was formerly of Williams. During the game Coach Wilson put all the substitutes in and they held Williams as good as the regulars. This was the last game in which Captain Fussell, Thurman Hart, Alberto Ceballos, Elmore Sorenson, Roy Simmons and Frank Gallegos will participate, and they all starred as did the rest of the team. The feared game ended with a score of 25-0.

Thus ended what you would call a successful football season, winning five games and losing two. Since Coach Wilson has been in Winslow his teams have a record of thirteen games won, tied two, and lost only two. The stars uncovered this year were Jack Thomas, a Junior, light and full of fight. Jack stopped them all at his end position. George Dietz is another one. George played in the backfield at the first of the season and ended playing a wonderful game at end in the Williams game. The students of Winslow High School will not forget the six Seniors who ended their football career in a sea of mud for old Winslow High School.

Boys' Basketball

The basketball season opened with five of the 1928 squad out for their old places. There was an abundance of new material of unusual class, predicting that the team of 1929 was to be a strong, fast aggregation.

The interclass games, which formally opened the season, brought honors. The Seniors carried were the victors, with the Sophomores taking second place.

Following this the Winslow High School Basketball Team made a good showing this year. They won 9 out of a total of 13 games played, and won their last eight in succession. They got a bad start at the opening of the season, but made up for it on rounding into form. Winslow then, with a hard week's practice, went to the Northern Arizona Tournament at Flagstaff, held on February 22-23. The boys all enjoyed the ride because of going in the new school bus.

Winslow, after drawing, had to play Miami for the first game at eight o'clock Friday morning. The Meteor boys came out victorious after a hard fought game. The score was 11-12. The next game was with St. Johns, and the Mormon boys won, after a good game, 13-11. W. H. S. was then eliminated and St. Johns went on and won the tournament for the fourth year in succession.

Track

The outstanding events of the 1928 Track Season was a dual meet with Flagstaff. Flagstaff edged out ahead by the margin shown in the score—52-50. Later during the season, the team journeyed to Tucson. Winslow placed second in the 100 yard dash, Houck being the wearer of the laurels. At the Northern Arizona meet held at Flagstaff, Houck also placed, this time a third in the 220. The following received letters: Bill Ward, "Stork" Jarman, Mike Guardian, Mateas Gallegos, Frank Gallegos, "Cusco" Chacon, George Jackson, Lawrence Corbett, Clarence Houck, Lewett Hart and R. G. Fussell.

This year we have the following aspirants: Neil Kuhn, George Jackson, Robert Dietz, Carl Brady, Dennis Sweeney, Ambrose Baca, Bus Mead, L. D. Welsh, Robert Vaughn and Miles Parker.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

At the opening of the 1929 basketball season, prospects were bright. Several experienced players were out in uniform, and everything pointed to a successful season. Miss Sellman, girls coach, had a great deal of experience along athletic lines; and she did all in her power to shape a team worthy of representing Winslow High. The result was that she had a girls' team that gave everything they had to uphold the honor of our school. Before the regular basketball practice came the girl's interclass games. The Juniors took the honor of champions, which they have held for three years in succession and prospects for fourth year, while the mighty Seniors had to be content with second place.

The scores of the various interclass games and the class teams are indicated below.

The Winslow High School Girls' Basketball team after a few nights of hard practice received word for a game with Kingman at Kingman. The girls left Saturday morning and were to play them that night. After a weary, but enjoyable trip, they landed at their destination and landed hard. The Winslow girls having a reputation of having championship teams, held to it, because Kingman was swamped under the score 45 to 8. Margaret Hosler and Ethel Coston, respective forwards, were evenly divided for point honors. Aileen Rhoades, captain, and the other guard didn't have much work, while Marion Vanderbur and Virginia Ward, centers were fighting all the time.

The girls have hard times trying to get basketball games with the neighboring towns, because of their ability to play.

Bachelor Ways

Barbara Hubbell

To begin he did not like girls, and as a result of this strange aversion he was a bachelor. His sister had tried a number of times to make a "match" for him with some of the "nice little girls" she happened to know. The girls were always quite willing, but Harvey was like a terrified kitten at the thought of getting his feet wet in the "Sea of Matrimony".

Harvey was anything but a kitten-like man. He was rich, good-looking, and thirty years of age. He was also athletic, having been a star on his college football team.

One evening after a tiresome day of meeting the directors of the United Banking Company, Harvey returned to his apartment and threw himself on the lounge. Just then the telephone rang. He stared balefully at the innocent-looking instrument which has been such an aid to modern business and pleasure. At first he was not going to answer; but as the little instrument kept ringing insistently, he jerked the receiver off the hook. All the anger and disgust he felt at having his rest disturbed were in his tone as he said gruffly, "Hello!"

For a moment there was a silence; then faintly over the wire came the sound of a small gasp, followed by a giggle. Then a silvery, flute-like voice questioned, "Is this you, Harvey?"

For the space of a few seconds he was silenced by surprise. Being positive that he knew no girl well enough to call him Harvey, he answered in his most formal tone, "Yes, this is Main 200, Harvey Davenport speaking".

Again came the sound of a small gasp, as though the girl at the other end of the wire was quite surprised. Then she said, "Why Harvey, I don't understand. You promised me you'd come over and I've waited and waited and now you talk as though you did not even know me. Are you angry at me?"

There was a pause. Harvey was wondering where on earth he had met her? Had he made an engagement with her? Who was she? What did it all mean? He hesitated before answering, when again the silvery voice cut in, "Poor boy! I guess you just forgot. I'll forgive you this time because you said you were so tired. I'll tell you what we will do; you meet me tomorrow at one thirty at the corner of Sunset Boulevard and Magnolia Avenue. We will have lunch together at the Tamarask Inn. Don't you think that will be splendid? Please don't be late as I have an appointment at three o'clock. You will meet me; won't you, Harvey?"

Almost before Harvey knew what he was doing, he had promised to meet her as she had requested.

A giggle of pure joy came to his ears. "Oh, you are a darling! Goodbye, Harvey," and the receiver clicked.

Harvey put the telephone back on the small table and sat staring at it. Now he was in for it and no way out. Of course, he might just stay away, but—well, he would like to clear up the mystery—and she did have a mighty sweet voice.

The next morning he awakened early. For a few seconds he wondered what had awakened him and why he felt so good. Then he remembered the telephone conversation and wondered who the girl was and where he had met her. He decided he would not go and meet her, but never-the-less he rose, shaved, bathed and dressed carefully. At one twenty-five he found himself at the appointed place looking eagerly in the face of all the girls who came that way.

He paid little attention to the limousine that had drawn up to the curb and even less to the little old lady seated within. He glanced casually in that direction and the little old lady beckoned to him and sent him a flashing smile, displaying beautiful, small, pearly teeth, for such an old lady.

Thinking the lady wished to ask a direction, he went over, took off his hat, and stood respectfully at the side of the car. He saw that she was a tiny old lady with little gray curls and a black dress that reached to her ankles. She hesitated a moment, and a frightened expression crept into her eyes. He smiled reassuringly at her and waited for her question. To his amazement the same silvery voice he had heard over the telephone came to him from this old lady.

"Are you very hungry, Harvey?" she asked.

He was unable to answer for a moment. He was absolutely dumb-founded.

Suddenly the little woman stared past Harvey and opened the door of the car and hastily jumped out. But she was a trifle too hasty. She stumbled on the front of her dress and almost fell out the door. Harvey, with never-failing courtesy, helped her to her feet and found himself staring into a pair of laughing blue eyes set in a curly yellow head and on the sidewalk at their feet lay a wig of small grey curls.

Before Harvey could recover from his amazement an elderly dignified-looking woman caught the owner of the blue eyes by the arm and said in a horrified voice, "Sylvia Thayer, what are you doing here in my dress and—heavens!" She stooped down, picked up the grey wig, and thrust it in her pocket. She glanced angrily at Harvey and Sylvia. "Get into this car!" she commanded and the two meekly obeyed.

The next few moments were never very clear in Harvey's mind. The big car stopped in front of the Claramont College and he, and the girl of the silvery voice were hustled into the office of Miss Steadman, the dignified lady and dean of the college. And now he found himself listening to Sylvia's story, told between sobs.

The girls were so tired of study and not much play. She had been dared to pull this trick because they knew that Harvey was rather a woman hater and then Miss Steadman had ruined their plan by going to her sister's house by a different route from the one she usually took.

Such an incongruous figure did she cut with her tousled curly hair, long black dress and red eyes that Miss Steadman relented and allowed her to go with just a lecture and some minor punishment.

Harvey returned to his apartment but his thoughts were haunted by the picture of blue-eyed Sylvia.

One evening when he was at home reading, the telephone rang and to his unbounded joy, the same silvery voice of his dreams questioned, "Is this Mr. Davenport?"

"Yes, Miss Thayer," he answered gravely. There was a moments hesitation; then she said: "I thought I had better call you up and apologize for the foolish prank I played on you. Really, I am awfully sorry about it. I also want to apologize for what I said about—about—" then very bravely, "about your not liking girls!" She stopped as though for want of breath but to her amazement he was laughing heartily. Then he said very gravely again, "I accept your apology, Miss Sylvia, but I think I was wrong about being a woman hater. I am not one any more. I have learned something since the last time I saw you."

"Oh!" said Sylvia, but that was all.

Then, "Are you allowed to have callers, Sylvia? May I come and see you and tell you what I have learned?"

"I would love to have you," she replied. "Can you come Sunday afternoon at three o'clock?"

Harvey promised to come then hung up the receiver. Soon, quite without knowing it, he was whistling one of the popular songs of the day entitled, "A Precious Little Thing Called Love!"

Dramatics

"The Poor Nut"

The evening of December 14 about ten o'clock the doors of the Washington Auditorium opened and a throng of people crowded forth. They had been witnessing the Senior play, "The Poor Nut". The play was a peppy, fast-moving comedy. The lines were clever and Miss Kerlin showed much ability in choosing her cast.

The scene of the play is in a college town in Ohio. John Miller, "The Poor Nut" was one of the students at this college. He wanted to be popular and a "sport" like some of the other boys, but instead, he was just a good student. Julia Winters, who was the beautiful Wisconsin co-ed, told him that he had an inferiority complex, but Margy Blake, a fellow-student of John's, liked him very well, complex or no complex!

On this day there was to be a field-meet between Ohio State University and Wisconsin University. Miss Winters had come down apparently to "root" for her fiance, the captain of the Wisconsin track team, Spike Hoyt. However, Miss Winters was making a rather secret search for John Miller. He had fallen in love with her picture and had written her many letters depicting himself as he would have liked to be. John has always wanted to join the Psi Sigma Fraternity, but after one rather drastic experience there has never had the nerve to go back to the fraternity house. However, when his botany professor announced that he was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa, the scholastic fraternity, the Psi Sigma Fraternity invited him to join with them as they needed men who were good scholars.

Julia Winters met John and was somewhat surprised as she expected him to be quite different. She was angry at Spike and told John she would marry him if he would beat Spike in the relay race. Poor John was quite amazed but could do nothing but accept.

He beat Spike in the relay and that night at the dance Julia told the crowd that she and John were to be married that same evening. Julia then went to "argue the question" with Spike, who was very angry at her.

John and Margie were left alone and he confessed that he loved her. When the crowd came back John declared his independence. He said he would not be a bond salesman as Julia wanted to be and said he was already married to Margy because that afternoon in the track tent she had kissed him and he regarded that as almost a marriage. Julia then said that she had decided to marry Spike. So all ended happily and all were satisfied.

"The Patsy"

After much discussion the Juniors finally decided on "The Patsy" as their annual play. "The Patsy" is a snappy little three-act comedy which was written by Barry Connors.

The story is about Patricia Harrington, a girl who "runs second" to her older sister. She is "The Patsy" who is blamed for everything that goes wrong, and is forced to remain in the background in order that her sister may be presented to advantage. Her father, a traveling salesman, is on her side and finally declares his independence by putting "Ma" in her proper place. This brings about Patsy's ultimate happiness as the bride of the man she loves.

The play was excellently worked up under the direction of Miss Kerlin, the dramatic instructor at the high school. The cast of characters was: Bill Harrington, Joe Dudziak; Mrs. Harrington, Aileen Rhoades; Grace Harrington, Wilma Bazell; Patricia Harrington, Betty Metcalfe; Billy Caldwell, Howard Mead; Tony Anderson, Wilfred Jarman; Sadie Buchanan, Helen Schmitz; Francis Patrick O'Flaherty, Bill Pinto; "Trip" Bustry, Leo Leonard.

The Pep Squad of Winslow High was organized in 1928 and again in 1929. This is one of the peppiest organizations in the school.

It is composed of twenty of the High School girls, who are:

The Glee Clubs this year have some fine and promising material. They are under the able direction of Miss Gladys Blackburn. Last year they showed up splendidly. Some of the students had to be eliminated as there were too many in the classes.

Both Glee Clubs have made public appearances this year. What would a high school be without music?

THE OPERETTA

The Musical Comedy, "Pickles", by Allan Benedict, given this year by the Glee Clubs, and under the direction of Miss Gladys Blackburn and Miss Kathleen Kerlin, was a huge success. Large enthusiastic audiences attended both night performances. This is the first time our High School has given two consecutive performances of any production, and we feel that it was a real accomplishment.

We are very grateful for the assistance of the following teachers and the students in their departments: Stage settings, Floyd King, Manual Training; Programs, Celeste Amos, Art, and Myra Hilliard, Commercial; Costumes, Irene McCauley, Home Economics; and Advertising Material, Celeste Amos, Art.

The cast of characters, in order of their first appearance, was as follows:

Who says Winslow High hasn't a Music Department?

The Winslow High School Band was organized in the fall of 1926 under the leadership of Ben K. Cudd, and has continued under his direction until the present time. Since that time it has met regularly from eight until nine o'clock every morning, and has worked up a nice repertoire. The school considers it quite indispensable, and depends upon it to furnish music for various programs and school activities. Last spring, at the Northern Arizona Music contest at Flagstaff, our Band was awarded first place.

Last year the P. T. A. sponsored the purchasing of band uniforms. Local city organizations helped materially, some donating as many as four suits. The uniforms are very neat, and are still quite snappy and good looking. The coats are of maroon trimmed with white braid; white trousers and skirts complete the costumes.

The personnel of the band is:

SENIOR HOP

On May 17, the Seniors gave their annual hop. The same decorations used for the Prom were still in use, but the atmosphere was entirely different. Bright lanterns gave a more festival appearance to the hall. Balloons, whistles, noise-makers, hats, and confetti supplied the necessary entertainment, and a lively, peppy orchestra furnished the music. The informal carnival dance was more than a success—it was a hit.

JUNIOR PROM

The Juniors certainly came to the front with the social event of the year. The Washington auditorium was transformed into an old fashioned garden. The entire hall was inclosed in white lattice work, which was covered with vines and hollyhocks; quaint gardens in old fashioned dresses served punch to the gala crowd. The unique feature of the prom was the station of the orchestra. A typical pergola was erected from which came the music for the dancers. The Prom was a success from the Grand March to "Home, Sweet Home", and everyone admitted that it was the biggest event of the year. Special features of the dance were the clever programs, which carried out the prevailing motif, and the favors which were presented to the Seniors.

BASKET BALL DANCE

W. H. S. was so thrilled over defeating Flagstaff here, January 18, that we felt we must dance. The basket ball court was turned into a dance hall, and the school orchestra furnished good music. The "Flag" bunch are good sports, anyway.

BASKETBALL DANCE, FEBRUARY 13

Yes, we certainly did beat Holbrook—on the thirteenth too. We had a dance to show how happy we were about the victory. The music? It was furnished by local talent—and some orchestra, too! We had a good time, and I think the Holbrookites did too, don't you?

SOPHOMORE DANCE

March 1st the Sophomores came to the front. The annual Sophomore dance given at the Washington Auditorium was certainly a success that will be remembered. The hall was decorated in lavender and white, their class colors, and daintily clad girls served punch to the dancers. The music was furnished by Lloyd's orchestra. The feature of the evening was a program:

"Ten Little Miles From Town" Evelyn Vaughn
Assisted by chorus: Virginia Hinley, Georgia Kelley,
 "Billie" Bender, Mildred Hurst, Ethel Coston
"Bum Song" Bums
 Earl Cranston, Carl Brady, Darrell Simmons, Cecil
 Fouts, accompanied by Nathan Bly on the harmonica
Fancy Dance Harriet Richardson

SENIOR PICNIC

(Betty Metcalfe)

To start the school year off right the seniors gave a picnic at Clear Creek, Friday, September 14. Swimming was the main attraction while the eats ran a close race for popularity. Stories and singing around the camp fire were enjoyed by all. The picnickers went home long after the moon had given up his watch. What became of Miles and Margarete?

JUNIOR-FACULTY BANQUET

The juniors entertained the faculty at a banquet on Friday, October 3rd, at the home of Betty Metcalfe. Low bowls of daisies decorated the tables, while the class colors, green and white, were carried out in the place cards and napkins. Short talks were given by every one present.

The menu was as follows:

	Cocktail
Olives		Pickles
	Salad
	Sweet Potatoes
	Mashed Potatoes
	Meat Loaf
	Creamed Peas
Hot Rolls		Butter
	Dessert
	Coffee

HOLLOWE'EN DANCE

The juniors and freshmen surprised the school by giving a hollowe'en dance, Friday, November 2, at the Washington Auditorium. The hall was decorated in keeping with the holiday and a snappy program was the feature of the evening. Each class was permitted to invite ten guests outside of the school. The sheik of the evening was no other than William Goldsworthy. The orchestra? Well, slightly dark, but good, jazzy music. Who was "Cotton" with? Don't ask, please. Miss Kerlin and her boy friend? Certainly, they were there!

The program was as follows:

Act I

"Sunshine"—Evelyn Vaughn with Ethel Coston "stomping" to the chorus.

Act II

"Mississippi Mud"—Melba Jackson with Virginia Hinley doing her famous acrobatic stunts.

Act III

Clown Jig dance by Miss Sellman.

Act IV

"Old Pals Are The Best Pals After All"—Lee Dover.

Act V

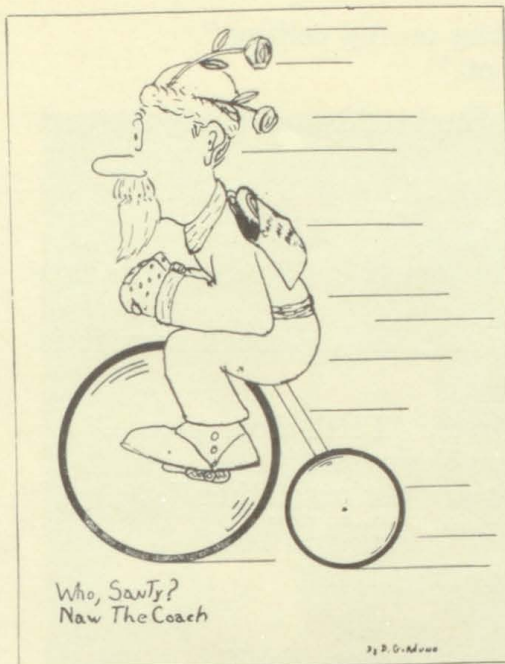

Varsity Drag—Wilma Bazell with chorus: Alyce Bickle, Isobel Recorden, Virginia Hinley, Dorothy Albright, and Louise Smongeski.

Mrs. George Jackson accompanied on the piano.

METEOR DANCE

The annual staff gave a big dance at the Arcadia Hall, December 21. It was a benefit dance for the "Meteor" and the admission was one dollar per couple. A large crowd enjoyed the dance, and we made lots of money. Didn't you think Miss Blackburn and Miss Kerlin were quite chic in their new evening gowns?

Santa Claus Comes To Winslow (Duke and Brady)

With a crash and a roar,
In came Santa through the door.
The building shook and trembled
As his feet hit the floor.

He laughed and he grinned
As he showed us his pack.
It had come from "Pay'n Takit",
And was an old brown paper sack.

Then came a bright idea.
We asked Santa to sing.
He responded so loudly
That it made our ears ring.

At last Santa gave his presents,
And we sadly watched him go.
But we thought he was Coach Wilson,
And we loved him so.

Conductor: "How old is the little girl?"

Alyce B.: "Mother, I would rather pay full fare and keep my age to myself."

Cecil Fouts (rushing to library): "I want the life of Caesar."

Miss Hall: "Sorry, but Brutus beat you to it."

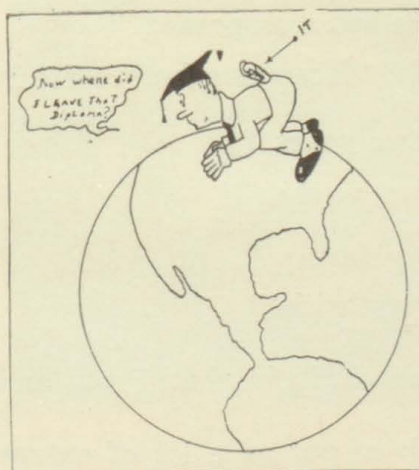

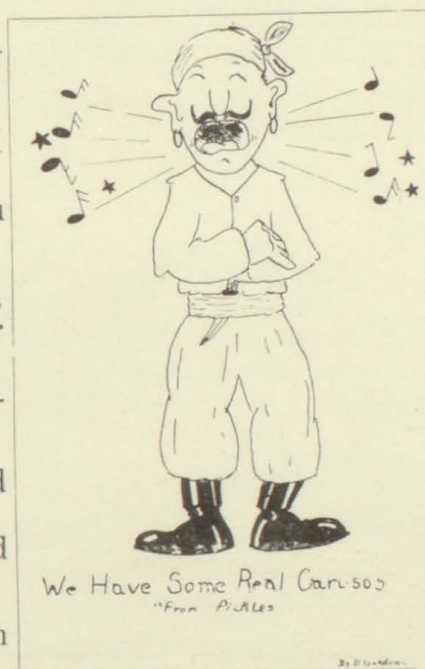

Alyce: "Isn't Lee terribly conceited, why actually he stands before the mirror for hours admiring himself."

Isabelle: "Conceit, nothing, that's purely imagination."

She sat alone in the moonlight, deserted by women and men.

She swore alone in the moonlight, she'd never eat onions again.

Senior (to storekeeper): "A Freshman sent me to get some traffic jam."

Bessie: "Virginia, don't you find it difficult to keep your accounts straight?"

Virginia: "Yes, indeed, I had to make four mistakes this time to make my balance."

Soph: "I think I'll commit suicide."

Senior: "Good, but turn off the gas when you finish."

Miss Sellman: "What substance makes the best shoes?"

Vaughn Overman: "I don't know, but banana peels makes the best slippers."

Helen Schmitz: "There is a big brown bug on my ceiling."
Buss Mead: "Well, step on it and come on."

Miss Kerlin: "Earl, write a sentence on the blackboard using see and saw."

Earl wrote on the blackboard the following: "I saw a seesaw."

Ten Years From Now

Lee: "It seems to me, dear, that there is something wrong with this soup."

Alyce: "You must be mistaken again, dear, the cookbook says it is perfectly delicious."

Over at the new High School, Shorty Dover: "Fifth floor please."

Mr. Cudd (elevator man): "Here is your floor, son."

Shorty: "How dare you call me son, you are not my father."

Mr. Cudd: "I know it, but I brought you up, didn't I?"

Miss Sellman: "Ted, why do we use soap?"

Ted: "That is what I'd like to know."

Robert C.: "What are those three holes in the floor for?"

Robert D.: "'Cause I have three cats."

R. C.: "Well one hole could let three cats out."

R. D.: "But when I say scat, I mean it."

Mr. Wilson: "Joy, take your ruler and draw your figure on the blackboard."

Sam Curtis: "She would do better with a corkscrew."

Carl Brady: "Pat, do you know why I don't like you?"

Pat Duke: "I can't think."

Brady: "You guessed it."

Miss Selman: "Which animal has the keenest sense of smell?"

Fred Burch: "The skunk."

Miss Oare: "We will have our pictures taken today. Be sure and come with your clothes on."

Miss Sellman (In lesson on Gravity): "It is the law of gravitation that keeps us on this earth."

Elmore S.: "How did we stick on before the law was passed?"

Robert Cranston (going into barber shop): "How long before I can get a shave?"

Barber (looking closely at him): "About two years!"

Voice over telephone: "Are you the lady that washes?"

Miss Kerlin: "Why, I should say not!"

Voice: "Oh, you dirty thing!"

Betty Metcalfe: "What is good to clean ivory with?"

R. G. F.: "Why don't you try a shampoo?"

Mr. Cudd: "Why don't you get some floorboards in that Ford, and a top, and a windshield, and a tail light?"

George J.: "Oh! I think it looks snobbish to put on a lot of extras on a car."
